CITGO Ad Effective at Improving Americans' Perceptions of Venezuela and Chavez

-- Majority Viewed Ad as a Political Tool as Opposed to a Public Service Ad --

Flemington, NJ, January 15, 2008 – Results of a national study released today revealed that while a CITGO public service ad elicited positive responses from Americans toward Venezuela and its president, the majority viewed the ad as a political tool.

The study was conducted among 404 Americans during January 14-15 to obtain Americans' views on an advertisement in which Congressman Joe Kennedy credits CITGO -- a Venezuelan-based company -- as the only oil company that donated fuel to help underprivileged Americans heat their homes. The communications research study was conducted by HCD Research and the Muhlenberg College Institute of Public Opinion.

While viewing the advertisement, participants indicated their levels of believability by moving their mouse from left to right on a continuum. The responses were recorded in quarter-second intervals and reported in the form of curves. Participants were also asked pre- and post-viewing questions.

To view second-by-second believability curves and detailed results go to: www.mediacurves.com.
Among the findings:

Which of the following best describes the purpose of the advertisement?

- An attempt to boost Citgo's corporate image - 37%
- An attempt to embarrass President Bush within his own country - 20%
- Venezuela is attempting to assist Americans in need - 15%
- An attempt to promote Congressman Joe Kennedy - 15%
- An attempt to improve Venezuela's image - 13%

Do you believe that Hugo Chavez, president of Venezuela is sincerely interested in helping economically challenged Americans obtain energy for heating their homes?

Prior to viewing the CITGO Ad	After viewing the CITOG Ad
Yes - 13%	Yes - 29%
No - 52%	No - 45%
Don't know - 35%	Don't know - 27%

Which of the following best describes your view of Hugo Chavez?

Prior to viewing the CITGO Ad	After viewing the CITGO Ad
Highly favorable - 3%	Highly favorable - 20%
Somewhat favorable - 11%	Somewhat favorable - 44%
Somewhat unfavorable - 21%	Somewhat unfavorable - 8%
Highly Unfavorable - 30%	Highly Unfavorable - 3%
Not sure - 35%	Not sure - 25%

Which of the following best describes your view of the people of Venezuela?

Prior to viewing the CITGO Ad	After viewing the CITGO Ad
Highly favorable - 12%	Highly favorable - 20%
Somewhat favorable - 43%	Somewhat favorable - 43%
Somewhat unfavorable - 8%	Somewhat unfavorable - 9%
Highly Unfavorable - 2%	Highly Unfavorable - 4%
Not sure - 36%	Not sure - 24%

"The CITGO advertisement appears to have positive effect on Americans' perceptions of the Venezuelan people and quite significantly increased their favorability of Hugo Chavez, president of Venezuela," explained Glenn Kessler, president and CEO, HCD Research. "If the objective was to improve the image of Venezuela, it worked."

"The automated response curves showed a significant decrease in believability as the narrator, Joe Kennedy, suggests that our government cut fuel assistance and that American energy companies were unresponsive. Democrats, Republicans and independents all dramatically decreased their levels of believability," Kessler concluded.

"While most Americans see the commercial as more of a political tool than a real attempt to help the needy get heating oil in the United States, the ad does succeed at marginally increasing the standing of both Venezuela and Hugo Chavez," commented Chris Borick, Ph.D., director of the Muhlenberg College Institute of Public Opinion,"

The Media Curves web site provides the media and general public with a venue to view Americans' perceptions of popular and controversial media events and advertisements.

Southwest Alaska Economic Summit & Annual Membership Meeting Update
January 15, 2008

Dear Sarah,

The Southwest Alaska Economic Summit and Annual Membership Meeting is just over two weeks away, set to take place January 31st-February 1st at the Hotel Captain Cook in Anchorage. We hope you'll take the opportunity to join us as we engage in meaningful discussions regarding economic and community development in Southwest Alaska and across the state. For more about the agenda, registration, sponsorship and other meeting details, visit the SWAMC web site and see additional updated information below:

Summit Highlights

- Thanks for Your Support!
- Funding Opportunities
- Candidates Forum
- Pre-Conference Energy Workshop

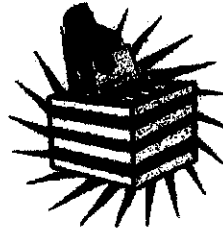
members. There are 18 scheduled representatives from the Federal, State and private sectors that will be on hand to help inject some money into Southwest Alaskan programs and projects, so come armed with your funding needs and be prepared to participate in the round table forum.

Candidates Forum

Just like the "Race to the White House," it's never too early to start campaigning! The evening banquet on February 1st will feature the candidates running for Alaska's lone seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. This will be a great opportunity to ask these Congressional candidates how the 49th state will meet its many challenges in the years to come. Make sure to be present for one of Alaska's first Congressional forums of the year, occurring in the Quarter Deck of the Hotel Captain Cook.


Pre-Conference Energy Workshop

Prior to the Annual Conference, SWAMC will hold a renewable energy workshop on Wednesday, January 30th from 12:30 to 5 PM at the Hotel Captain Cook. The aim of the workshop is to provide practical knowledge about project planning and financial opportunities to utility managers, city planners and others interested in learning how they can implement alternative/renewable energy into their community. Invited presenters include: USDA-Rural Development, Alaska Energy Authority, University of Alaska Fairbanks, The Denali Commission, and the Renewable Energy Alaska Project. Admission is free for registered Conference attendees and $25 for non-attendees. For more information, please call the SWAMC office at 562-7380 or email Rebekah Luhrs, Energy Project Coordinator. Thanks to the USDA- Rural Development Alaska office for sponsoring the workshop.

Special Air Fares

SWAMC's regional airlines are offering discounted rates for members and Southwest Alaskans wanting to reach Anchorage at the end of January.

Era Aviation will offer a 10% discount for participating flights in the Southwest Alaska area. Use the code 'SWAMC08' on the Era website. Click their link on the right side of this page to book.

Alaska Airlines will feature special fares for Dutch Harbor/Unalaska ($349 one way) and Kodiak ($149 one way), valid in either direction between January 27 and February 5. Call or visit their link on the right to reserve.

Finally, PenAir is offering discounted round trip fares for select Southwest communities, good from January 28 - February 4. Click on the PenAir website and use code SWA99 to receive rates for the following:
Cold Bay - $665  Dillingham - $406  King Salmon - $406  Sand Point - $597  St. George - $714.40  St. Paul - 714.40

Board Nominations

Six board seats will be contested at the SWAMC Membership Meeting on Friday, February 1st at 3:00 p.m. Nominations are now being accepted or can be made on the floor during sub-regional caucuses.

The contested board seats are:

Aleutian/Pribilofs: one municipal and one associate seat.

Bristol Bay: one municipal and one associate seat.

Kodiak: one municipal and one associate seat.

Members may also file proxy statements through January 25th.

Staying at the Cook?

There are rooms available at the Hotel Captain Cook for conference attendees. If you have not already done so, we encourage you to book your room today. Remember to ask for the Southwest Alaska Municipal Conference group rate, and include your confirmation code with your SWAMC registration to receive $30 off of your registration fees for the conference. The conference rate of $95 per night at the Cook ends on January 23, so make sure to book your accommodations before then.

Thanks for your continued support...

Chamber Applauds Long-Awaited Transportation Study
The U.S. Chamber of Commerce praised the release today of a two-year study on the nation's transportation infrastructure.

The National Surface Transportation Policy and Revenue Study Commission report includes several wide-ranging recommendations, including raising federal gasoline taxes, a proposal the Chamber says should be considered along with other ideas.

"We wholeheartedly agree that continued underinvestment and business-as-usual transportation policies and programs will have a detrimental impact on the ability of the United States to compete in the world economy and on the everyday lives of Americans," Chamber President and CEO Tom Donohue said in a statement to the press upon today's release.

During his State of American Business address last week, Donohue said the Chamber would consider supporting revenue generating funding options — provided that the funds were dedicated solely to repairing critical transportation where it is most needed. The Chamber also endorses public-private partnerships and greater use of tolls.

Dear Friends,

The deadline for the Verizon Tech Savvy Awards has been extended!

NCFL is accepting nominations for the 2008 Verizon Tech Savvy Awards through January 25, 2008, 11:59 pm (EST).

The annual awards — established in 2007 by the Verizon Foundation, NCFL, and former First Lady of Iowa Christie Vilsack — are designed to recognize outstanding programs that help parents bridge the widening gap between adults' and children's understanding of technology.

One $25,000 national award and four $5,000 regional awards will be presented at the National Conference on Family Literacy in Louisville, KY, March 31, 2008.

Subject: Nikolski Fuel Crisis Update - January 15th, 2008

Dear All:

An ACE charter will attempt to take 10 drums of #1 heating oil to Nikolski tomorrow, Wednesday morning. APIA, APICDA, and Delta Western are assisting this effort.

Nikolski has less than 200 gallons in the tank, which may make it a day or two. Heating oil is a priority due to the cold clinic and housing, but without electricity, they won't have heat either.

A larger emergency fuel delivery is being planned with Magone Marine. Up to 25,000 gallons could be delivered.

A new update will follow upon new information. Thank you for your attention and interest and please let me know if you need any more information.

MESSAGE:

Govenor Palin,

Please see the attached email I sent in support of your wanting to see your son's Basic Training graduation. I went to my son's and if you have to lady, give the State of the State address in the lobby of the Capitol standing on your suitcases. I for one am supporting you!

Have fun at your son's graduation, and bring a large box of Kleenex and whar waterproof mascara, you will need both!

Sincerely,

Natalie Smyre

A proud military wife and mom

Ms. Green,

I am very disappointed in the way you have been behaving towards our Governor Sarah Palin in her attempts to attend her son's Basic Training graduation. As a military wife AND mother and painfully aware of what our loved ones have committed to by joining the military, we should all be standing up applauding the Palin's on raising such a selfless human being in this very selfish world, not attempting to make it an item of personal attack against her.

I attended my son's Basic Training graduation in January 2006 and it was the most moving, patriotic experience of my life, I wouldn't have missed it for the world. After going through what these young men go through, they need to see their family there supporting them and what they have just accomplished. And a mom need to be there to see her son, and stand proud of what he has accomplished.

I urge you to have a little humanity, pushing up the State of the State address by one hour so she can be at this life event is a small concession. I for one have more respect for her as a woman and a mother then ever, and unfortunately, much less respect for you!

As a person of your status in this State, I would urge you to put your personal feelings aside this Legislative Session and attempt to work as a team and towards what is best for the State and its people.

Natalie Smyre

NC STATEWIDE SEMINAR ON ONLINE K-12 PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT - JANUARY 17

NCDPI in cooperation with the United Star Distance Learn Consortium is conducting a special seminar on online K-12 professional development, Thursday, January 17, at 1:45pm ET. The seminar will be transmitted to various video locations throughout the state and via live webcast. This videoconference will present USDLC's Literacy to Learn: Professional Development for 21st Century Educators as an example of both an independent, self-paced professional development approach and an online learning community approach.

To register and learn more please visit www.ncpublicschools.org/distancelearning/onlinek12pd.htm

or contact Linda Walters by calling (919) 807-3497 or emailing

lwalters@dpi.state.nc.us

LITERACY TO LEARN PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT - Guest Access Open through January

The Literacy to Learn: Professional Development for 21st Century Educators (all 6 courses) will be open for guest access now through the end of January!

Sign up for Guest Access to:

* Experience firsthand why teachers find this professional development so applicable to their classrooms

* Share guest access with your curriculum team members for finalizing a decision on its inclusion into your new professional development offerings

* Explore how to incorporate Literacy to Learn into your local professional development by utilizing it as a standalone or within a mentoring structure

To request guest access:

EMAIL info@usdlc.org with your name, title, location and address - you will be sent an email with login instructions.

With Literacy to Learn, educators can...

* View video documentaries to see the "big picture" of teaching and learning 21st century skills

* Personalize the professional learning experience by selecting relevant modules to meet specific goals (for use in a mentoring role)

* Engage in reflection as a lens for improving practice

* Explore integration of new technologies and media

* Use video documentaries in learning communities to encourage collaboration and application of new learning

* Earn credit while preparing portfolios for National Board Certification

Courses / Contact Hours at Level One

1) Elementary: Reading, Writing, and Thinking Across the Curriculum / 30 hours

2) Middle/Secondary: Reading, Writing, and Thinking Across the Curriculum / 30 hours

3) Digital Literacy (K-12) / 30 hours

4) Scientific Literacy (3-12) / 9 hours

5) Best Practices in School Library Media Programs (K-12) (video-on-demand)/ 20 hours

6) Best Practices in School Library Media Programs (K-12) (online modules) / 30 hours

Learn how teachers can earn additional credit through project design and implementation:

http://www.usdlc.org/pathways/ltol.jsp

"I think that the video content is very relevant to the varied tasks of educators today. It is important to see real life situations in which new technology is being successfully used. The activities and process were both clear and valuable and I would recommend it to colleagues. I feel it was both meaningful and interesting." (Comment about Literacy to Learn: Reading, Writing, and Thinking Across the Curriculum)

If your state is not listed, if you would like to know if USDLC is currently applying in your state, or if you would like USDLC to explore state application, please contact Linda Walters, USDLC Professional Development Coordinator, 919-807-3497 or lwalters@dpi.state.nc.us.

SECOND LIFE TOUR

Dr. Crissman will be providing one of the first author's visits in Second Life when John Green, recipient of a 2006 Michael Printz Award for his first book, Looking for Alaska, and a 2007 Printz Honor Award for his second book, An Abundance of Katherines, will meet with adult and teen (over 18) fans in April. Non-Second Life citizens will be able to participate in the interactive webcast of the event. This is definitely a first for the USDLC eField Trip series!

Dr. Crissman offers the following as an introduction to the world of Second Life. Click here for a Second Life Tour:

(More information on Second Life will be provided in upcoming e-newsletters to prepare you for participation.)

SPRING SEMESTER BEGINS JANUARY 22

Notes to help you start off the spring semester of student courses:

1) First Day of Class: January 22

2) Drop Deadline: February 4 (There are no refunds after February 4.)

3) Registration: http://www.usdlc.org/StudentIns/2007-2008/regforms.jsp (Student and Facilitator emails are required for registration.)

4) Textbooks/Materials: These are the site's responsibility to have in place by the first day of class. Check course requirements here: http://www.usdlc.org/StudentIns/2007-2008/courselisting.jsp

5) Block Courses: If registering for AMDG courses and wanting the block format, you must register for both "A" and "B" sections.

INSTRUCTIONAL PARTNERS

USDLC has partnership agreements with well-respected, experienced distance learning providers to bring you a variety of subject areas, instructional levels, and formats under one umbrella. Whether your students are planning for college or planning to enter the workforce, you will find courses to fit their needs. As you plan, visit: http://www.usdlc.org/StudentIns/2007-2008/

AMDG is accredited through SACS (Southern Association of Colleges and Schools) and CITA (Commission on International and Transregional Accreditation). AMDG offers over 150 individual online college-prep (Honors, Advanced Placement) or career-tech high school courses in the formats of teacher led, "bring your own teacher", or independent study.

blendedschools.net licenses to districts a package of over 120 online courses, mostly at the elementary level but middle and secondary are also represented. You provide the teacher. blendedschools.net provides the access to the content and the training.

eSpindle is an online approach for the development of spelling and vocabulary skills for Grades 2-adult. Individual, building level, or district licenses are available. eSpindle won a 2006 Parents' Choice Award for its website, a project providing customized vocabulary and spelling tutoring.

LEARN NC K-12 Teaching and Learning from the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill School of Education offers online Latin I-II, Latin III (Honors), and AP Latin: Vergil (Latin IV).

Oklahoma State University's K-12 Distance Learning Academy (K-12 DLA) provides 13 online dual credit courses, AP Calculus, German (I-IV, AP), and Spanish (I-II) courses.

MESSAGE:

Governor-

For what its worth, as one of your "employers" I support your decision to take all necessary steps to attend your son's graduation. Ten years from now (perhaps sooner) we will have forgotten most, if not all, of our current turmoil. The gathering and the photos to be taken of your rightfully proud family at graduation deserve your presence.

Some folks don't understand what is really important and lasting. Please continue to lead by example and depart, on schedule, with a clear conscience, with or without delivering your speech.

For future voting purposes, I'd appreciate a list of all those who oppose your speech commencing at 6:00 PM to accomodate your travel arrangments.

Thank you for all you do for our state,

Best Regards and Safe Travels,

Mike Corey

Sheeeesh- lyda just changed it again to 4pm, even tho this may not be a "legal" sos because she says they won't convene until 6pm (AFTER the sos address) and you're supposed to present sos after they gavel in/convene.

Lyda Green refuses to support Alaska's troops

January 15, 2008

By Dennis Zaki - Alaska Senate president Lyda Green is trying to block governor Sarah Palin from seeing her son graduate boot camp Thursday at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Palin sent a letter December 18th asking lawmakers to schedule a joint session of the House and Senate to hear the speech at 6 pm on the first night of the legislative session so Palin could make a 9 pm flight that night to Seattle.

The 6 pm timeslot would allow Palin to catch a flight she had paid for and booked in advance.

Green claims that the traditional time is 7 pm and it should stay that way.

Senate Majority spokesman Green's lapdog Jeff Turner claimed the reason the speech can't be at 6 p.m. because the storms over the weekend interfered with many of the flights into Juneau and senators would be coming into town throughout the day Tuesday. Yet, a check with Alaska Airlines showed over 150 available seats Monday, and 125 seats available today from Anchorage. That's not counting legislators already booked on flights. Turner's claim is obviously a smokescreen.

A mother supporting her child at boot camp is as real as it gets.

Green has some explaining to do to her constituents in Wasilla with family members in the military.

And support our troops.

I strongly urge the Gov. to stick to her guns and give her state of the state at 6PM. The legislature has for decades been arrogant and has ignored the will of the people and what has been good for Alaska. The level of corruption is high and identified clearly. It is way past time that the Legislature began to act like polite people and to recognize that they are not imperial. I hope like h..l that the Gov. gives her speech at 6PM...and so does my wife who is CEO of the Alaska Municpal League. (She likely will say nothing so as not to offend)

Governor,

Bitney said they had a problem with it last week, but then Harris changed his mind and said 6:00 was o.k. In the meantime Bitney still sent the 7:00 invite to the Senate. That put this all in motion, because Lyda had all she needed for ammo. The question remains, why should you change your travel after 6:00 was already approved a month ago?

We NEVER refused to provide a reason for 6:00. When they asked, we told them. Bitney pretended he needed a reason for 6:00 because he thought it might make us sweat. He then admitted he knew about the graduation all along. He had told Tkacz early last week.

I've been consistent since last week (when Tkacz was the first one to say he knew about the graduation) that you had a flight to catch to go see your son graduate. I never said anything until it was obvious that the word was out.

The only real bad part of the story is the quote about the prime time slot. This was never a factor as far a I was concerned. I'm not sure why that even came up. Never heard that was a consideration of ours. It seems to run counter to the explanation that we needed 6:00 in order for you to catch a plane.

MESSAGE:

Gov. Palin,

On the way to work this morning, you were the topic of radio conversation. Just wanted to let you know, as the mother of a soldier, that you are doing the right thing to give your State of the State speech at 6:00 pm. The legislature had plenty of notice, and should have been much more obliging. They can get copies of it, or watch their TV stations. Your values and your heart are in the right place.

Sincerely,

Lee Ault

I bet McCallister or Quinn would want to scoop something like this...provide them the original transmittal letter from dec., show the original BASIS meeting time for the senate to convene (1:00pm). I mean if you look at the flippin flight sched for Jnu-8,1,3,7. What do you mean members couldn't get here in time? Nobody took the 3 o'clock milk run and nobody is on the evening flight.

Anyway, you're going to do awesome tonight, that's all that matters.

Governor,

Bitney said they had a problem with it last week, but then Harris changed his mind and said 6:00 was o.k. In the meantime Bitney still sent the 7:00 invite to the Senate. That put this all in motion, because Lyda had all she needed for ammo. The question remains, why should you change your travel after 6:00 was already approved a month ago?

We NEVER refused to provide a reason for 6:00. When they asked, we told them. Bitney pretended he needed a reason for 6:00 because he thought it might make us sweat. He then admitted he knew about the graduation all along. He had told Tkacz early last week.

I've been consistent since last week (when Tkacz was the first one to say he knew about the graduation) that you had a flight to catch to go see your son graduate. I never said anything until it was obvious that the word was out.

The only real bad part of the story is the quote about the prime time slot. This was never a factor as far a I was concerned. I'm not sure why that even came up. Never heard that was a consideration of ours. It seems to run counter to the explanation that we needed 6:00 in order for you to catch a plane.

ADN is reporting "we" knew the 6pm was going to be a problem a week ago (I did not), leaving the impression I could have changed flights. Who knew it was a problem a week ago?

Also says I "refused" to give a reason for wanting 6pm so both House and Senate said

7pm. Who "refused" to give reasons (unless Bitney is spreading this, to cover his butt for not working with his boss-Harris- on this back in December)?

Stick to the plan and give your State of the State speech at 6pm and go see your son graduate from boot camp. It would be nice if Ms Green could see that your dedication to our state, your family and an American soldier far outweighs her politics.

Tell your son I and all Alaskans thank him for his service.

MESSAGE:

Dear Gov. Palin,

I read with dismay this morning of the conflict between your office and the Senate Leadership regarding the time of your State of the State Address. I didn't vote for you in the last election, but your actions since taking office have clearly earned my vote next time. Track's graduation from Basic Training is clearly a monumental event, please thank him for his dedication and service to our country. The priorities for you must be clear, I can't imagine you anywhere besides at his upcoming graduation. The Senate Leadership is simply being nothing less than unreasonable. My family is completely supportive of you giving your speech at 6:00PM as you had previously scheduled, regardless of who is in attendance. As Alaskans we'll be listening and my respect for you will only be increased by your decision to support our state and your family. As I said you've already earned my vote and your continued hard work only makes me prouder to have you serving as our Governor.

Thank you for your continued hard work and please thank your family for their sacrifices and sharing you with our great state,

Michael A. Davidson

Lyda Green refuses to support Alaska's troops

January 15, 2008

By Dennis Zaki - Alaska Senate president Lyda Green is trying to block governor Sarah Palin from seeing her son graduate boot camp Thursday at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Palin sent a letter December 18th asking lawmakers to schedule a joint session of the House and Senate to hear the speech at 6 pm on the first night of the legislative session so Palin could make a 9 pm flight that night to Seattle.

The 6 pm timeslot would allow Palin to catch a flight she had paid for and booked in advance.

Green claims that the traditional time is 7 pm and it should stay that way.

Senate Majority spokesman ~~Green's lapdog~~ Jeff Turner claimed the reason the speech can't be at 6 p.m. because the storms over the weekend interfered with many of the flights into Juneau and senators would be coming into town throughout the day Tuesday. Yet, a check with Alaska Airlines showed over 150 available seats Monday, and 125 seats available today from Anchorage. That's not counting legislators already booked on flights. Turner's claim is obviously a smokescreen.

A mother supporting her child at boot camp is as real as it gets.

Green has some explaining to do to her constituents in Wasilla with family members in the military.

And support our troops.
